Can Fire Silent Employes: Ike

Take it from Here

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—You may soon note a change in the attitude of city officials toward their constituency on the matter of publicizing municipal spending.

The Illinois Municipal League, we are informed, adopted a plan at its annual session wherein city officials were encouraged to let the public in on the affairs of finance.

The reason is clear. Cities are now bumping bedrock for funds to run their governments. They are broke. The taxpayers, kept relatively in the dark as to the progression of this poverty, are against raising taxes. They simply haven't been informed that running a city under inflated prices is a far cry from the old days when lower taxes were more than adequate. The public is not conditioned and unfortunately hold the impression that much of its city's expenditures goes for graft. Let 'em get along on the old budget, they say. They'll make out.

Fortunately, most municipalities are wisely run. A great number of them are in dire financial straits. Public services will have to be trimmed despite the public's demand for them. Municipal bigwigs are poking around for more revenue. We might add that their search is followmig some queer channels.

Instead of facing enlightened taxpayers with a sound program for more taxes, city officials are meeting an obstinate, sullen electorate who are manning the no-tax barricades with all their might and main.

It has been a creed with us, and this newspaper, that we should attempt, to the best of our ability, to inform the public of its municipal affairs. Sometimes it is difficult. City finances are oftentime cloaked in a sort of gobbledegook that none can understand. The attitude of public officers sometimes presents a barrier. Sometimes public officials, and they are honest in their beliefs, feel that ANY publicity is detrimental. On occasions they feel that the most straightforward, objective news accounts, are unjust criticism. Then they lock the doors and the public is denied the information that would enlighten them and make it a partner in civic affairs. This is not to say that this condition exists in Dixon. But it exists quite generally.

In this connection, we might say that Mayor William Slothower read, in a loud, clear voice, the itemized bills at a meeting of the city council last night . This was a change in procedure. Previously they had been skipped over hurriedly by the city clerk.

The total sum of the bills was $10,873.28. That's a lot of money to spend in a week. It gives the public some indication that running a city the size of Dixon is not a peanut-sized job.

An honest, intelligent office-holder has nothmg to fear from the press and the informed public. Surprisingly enough to some, both can be a tremendous help in times of difficulty.

Dr. Luedtke Resigns as Ogle Vet

OREGON — (Special) — The Ogle county board of supervisors Tuesday received the resignation of Dr. R. R. Luedtke as county veterinarian.

Dr. Leudtke said he was giving up the $7,200 a year post to devote his time to private practice. He will continue to live in Oregon. He had held the job about two years.

The board appointed its chairman, Frank Brown, to be temporary superintendent of the mapping department in the county courthouse. Brown was hired on a per diem basis until a permanent superintendent is hired. The post has been vacant since the resignation of Roy Lincoln about three months ago.

Lloyd Says 'Not Guilty'

—Telegraph Photo

FRANK (BOOKIE) LLOYD, 35, as he appeared before Judge Grover Gehant this morning to plead "not guilty" to a bookmaking charge. His attorney, Edward Jones, was granted a continuance of the arraignment until Oct. 21 to file motions. Lloyd posted a $2,500 real estate bond.

Lloyd Pleads Not Guilty; Given Week's Continuance

Frank (Bookie) Lloyd, 35, Dixon, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of bookmaking in county court today and was granted a week to file motions questioning the information prepared by State's Atty. James Bales.

Judge Grover Gehant continued the arraignment hearing to Wednesday, Oct. 21, to give Lloyd's attorney, Edward Jones, a chance to file motions. Judge Gehant said that he would set a jury trial hearing at that time.

Lloyd posted bond totaling $2,500 replacing the cash bond of a like amount he had filed before Justice of the Peace Sterling Schrock the night he was arrested while allegedly accepting a $20 horse race bet.

Reveal Agent

Earl James, Dixon tavern owner, was a surety. Both Lloyd and James listed ample real estate assets, Lloyd a $30,000 home at 924 N. Dement av.

In the information filed by State's Atty. Bales, the name of the special investigator hired by county authorities and the one who allegedly slipped the Dixon man a $20 bet, was revealed. She is Patty Wilson, reportedly from a Chicago agency. She was described by those who saw her in the community as a beauteous, shapely blond.

The bookmaking complaint against Lloyd was signed by Henry Mortenson, Amboy auto dealer, employed by the Lee county sheriff's office as a special deputy.

Lloyd's arrest occurred on the night of Oct. 2 after the woman investigator reportedly made a bet with Lloyd. Mortensen stepped in and made the arrest. The investigation of Lloyd's activities had gone on for weeks, according to reports.

City Council Lowers Fees For Trailers

The Dixon city council last night acted to end objections to its trailer court ordinance by reducing the license fees from $200 to $50 a year.

Issuance of a license will be subject to an inspection of the Court by the city.

It has been charged that the city fee was exorbitant and that it tended to be a revenue measure rather than a regulatory fee.

In the other business last night, the council received four bids for a new police squad car. Lowest bid was submitted by the J. E. Miller firm for a six-cylinder Plymouth. Its gross bid was $1,839.28 less an $825 trade-in for the city's present 1949 Plymouth. The net was $1,014.29.

Terminal Pontiac, Dixon, submitted a net bid of $1,380 for a six-cylinder Pontiac and $1,450 for an eight-cylinder model.

Evar Swanson Co. entered a net bid of $1,468 for a six-cylinder Ford. An eight-cylinder model would cost $75 more.

Harrison Motor Sales submitted a net bid of $1,196 for a Chevrolet model.

The bids were tabled for a week's study.

Castle Raps County Officer For Gambling Law Apathy

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Latham Castle Tuesday accused State's Atty. Scott Hoover of apathy in gambling law enforcement, and the Christian County official retorted "politics."

Castle said he believed a "small group" wanted to turn the county into a Monte Carlo, "aided and abetted by the apathy of law enforcing officials."

He said that offers of aid to Hoover last spring when gambling was going on "patently and flagrantly" were spurned.

Hoover replied that Castle ignored a request for help in February, later butted into a purely local matter and "talks like he's got a hole in his head."

Castle is a Republican, Hoover a Democrat.

In raids last June, state police seized 98 slot machines and other gambling paraphernalia from about 50 taverns and cafes in Christian County.

The gambling equipment was destroyed. Hoover filed charges against the persons from whom it was taken. The defendants pleaded guilty and most paid $100 fines. The fines totaled about $5,000.

Castle's criticism of Hoover was voiced in a letter replying to one from Gus Vatthauer, chairman of the Christian County Board of Supervisors.

Asked for comment, Hoover said he lacks any assistants other than a secretary, and that the Republican county board refused to give him any.

Hoover said that last February he asked Castle to turn over names of people who had sent complaints about gambling to Springfield but never received a reply to his letter.

McCarthy Quotes Scientist Saying He Took 43 Secrets

Took Them For Study At Home

Say Witness Was Rosenberg Friend, Member of League

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today a "top scientist" for the army signal corps had admitted taking 43 secret documents from Ft. Monmouth, N. J., to his home for "study."

McCarthy told newsmen the man described himself as a "close friend" of Julius Rosenberg, who was executed at Sing Sing prison as an atomic bomb spy for Russia.

The senator quoted the witness as saying he attended meetings of the Young Communist league with Rosenberg and that Rosenberg solicited him "repeatedly" to join the Community party.

Recently Suspended

The man, recently suspended by the signal corps, testified today at a closed meeting of McCarthy's senate permanent investigations committee which is probing into possible Communist subversion in the radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth.

McCarthy said earlier today that a number of top secret army documents dealing with radar—the key in defense against atom bomb attacks—"turned up" in Russian occupied East Berlin and "were used by the Communists."

"The witness admitted removing 43 documents classified as secret and admitted having them in his apartment when army secret agents raided the house in October or November, 1946," McCarthy told newsmen after this morning's session.

McCarthy said the witness sub-

U. S. May Let Neutral Join Korean Debate

BULLETIN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A Western diplomatic source said today the United States may agree to include a neutral nation in the Korean peace conference if it develops the conferees need an "honest broker" to reach final decisions.

The informant emphasized that the United States will not be willing to take up the question of admitting neutrals to the peace conference as the first item of business. The United States very likely will agree to include neutrals at a later stage of the conference if and when it becomes necessary to have a go-between act in the peace-making, this source reported.

Dixon Sewer Project Nears Completion

A Dixon sewer project has almost been completed and the projected costs are 5 9 per cent under the engineer's preliminary estimates.

Mayor William Slothower announced that at a meeting of the board of local improvements held following the city council session last night.

The project is known as the Hemlock - Galena-Ottawa-Division sewer.

The engineer's estimate was $21,552.36, while the job will be finished at a cost of $20,284.81.

The mayor said that this will mean that a $1,267 rebate will be forthcoming to the lot owners along the project. The board ordered a voucher issued to the contractor for the remaining amount owed on the construction.

$1,000 was to be withheld until the contractor completes a small amount of road replacement and fill.

STUCK TIGHT IN POST HOLE—Three-year-old Garry Gantt lets out a wail as Melvin Nance (left) attempts to pull him free from a 2½-foot deep post hole where he became wedged while playing in Kansas City, Mo. Garry's right foot became caught in the bottom of the hole, dug by his father to set out a fence. The youngster was finally freed after sheriff's deputies, passersby, and workmen dug him out. Tito Might Send Man to Big 3 Meet

No Official Action On Soviet Surprise Demand to UN

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, (AP)—Irate Yugoslavs stepped up their anti-Western demonstrations over Trieste as President Tito today awaited the outcome of U. S. Secretary Dulles' trip to London.

With thousands of shouting demonstrators storming Belgrade's streets, the Yugoslav chief assembled his top lieutenants for a conference Tuesday night shortly after it was announced that the Big Three foreign ministers would confer Friday in the British capital.

Not Too Happy

Although there was no word on what the cabinet discussed, it was thought Tito might be considering sending a special representative to press Yugoslavia's viewpoint on the ministers. Tito previously had called for a four-power conference of the United States, Britain, Italy and Yugoslavia to search for a solution of the explosive issue.

There also was no official reaction to Russia's surprise demand at the United Nations that the security council quickly name an international governor for the entire Trieste territory and make it independent. Informed sources in New York, however, described Yugoslavia's U.N. representatives as "indifferent but not too happy" over the proposal.

Warn of Trouble

High Yugoslav officials here continued to warn of serious trouble to come if Britain and America carry out their plan to give the Allied-occupied Zone A of Trieste to Italy.

Tens of thousands of angry citizens last night staged Belgrade's biggest mass protest so far against the Western decision.

Tito has publicly proclaimed his country's determination to send its armed forces into Zone A—including the strategic port city of Trieste—if and when Italy takes over the area.

Inhabitants of Trieste's Zone A, meanwhile, carried on quietly under an Allied ban on public meetings. The ban was announced last night by Maj. Gen. Sir John Winterton.

Reds Accuse U. S.

LONDON — (AP) — The Soviet Union accused the United States today of planting "special agents" to stir up trouble in the Korean prisoner of war camps administered by the Neutral Commission.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said it was all part of an American plan to "wreck" the armistice.

Teenagers Mum On Liquor Party

Police Question 15 Youths; Wonder Who Drank Beer

Approximately 15 local area young people submitted to police questioning here yesterday, but left their questioners baffled as to the details of a beer party in which the youths were involved here last Saturday and Sunday.

Police Chief Frank Tyne and City Atty. Gerald Jones said that the investigation would continue until the question of who furnished the beer and liquor could be cleared up.

Police confiscated an empty 16-gallon beer keg early Sunday morning when they raided the residence at 622 S. Ottawa av. at 1 a.m. and broke up a party of some 25 or 30 teenagers and young adults.

Door Open

What authorities are trying to determine is who authorized the party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bovey, while the owners were absent, and who brought the keg of beer.

Most of those questioned yesterday maintained that they had but "one or two" drinks from the keg and that "they found the door open" at the residence and "took over."

Mr. and Mrs. James Jackley, who reside with the Boveys, claim

POW Talks Will Begin Thursday

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The potentially explosive face to face meetings of Communist explanation teams with 22,300 former Red soldiers who renounced communism while in Allied captivity begins Thursday in an atmosphere charged with tension.

The Communists notified the Korean repatriation commission today they would start the long delayed interviewing of anti-Red POWs in an effort to coax them back to their native lands.

The U. N. Command told the commission it will not begin tomorrow. The Allies presumably are in no hurry to start meeting with the 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans who refuse repatriation, a small number in comparison to the thousands of Chinese and North Koreans who spurned return to their homelands.

Troops Alerted

Indian troopers were alerted for possible violence as word flashed through the compounds that the interviews were ready to start. Although only the POWs to be interviewed first were told, the news spread quickly.

The sight of Communist jeeps passing near the POW stockades touched off rock throwing, shouting demonstrations.

The Red persuasion efforts will begin at 8 a.m. (5 p.m. CST) Wednesday and last eight hours daily.

Question of Penalty Raised If Hall Should Plead Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Indications from Kansas City that Carl Austin Hall may plead guilty in the kidnap-killing of Bobby Greenlease raise the question whether he could thereby escape a death sentence.

But legal authorities say there is a way such a sentence could be imposed, regardless of the plea.

In the federal courts, which will handle the Lindbergh Kidnap Law charges against Hall and his woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, the presiding judge has absolute discretion whether or not to accept such a plea.

Must Be Jury

If Hall should plead guilty with the thought of throwing himself solely upon the mercy of the judge, and the court agreed to this arrangement, the most severe penalty he could get would be life imprisonment.

This is true because the Lindbergh law provides the death penalty only when (1) the victim is harmed and (2) a death sentence is recommended by a jury.

This led legal experts to speculate today that if a guilty plea is entered, and accepted by the court, the judge may proceed to empanel a jury for the specific purpose of getting its recommendation on a sentence after it has heard the full story of the abduction and killing of 6-year-old Bobby.

Could Impose It

If this jury recommended a death sentence, the judge under the law could impose it, the experts said.

They pointed out moreover that regardless of the outcome of prosecution under the Lindbergh law, which is a federal anti-kidnaping statute, state authorities if they saw fit could bring Hall to trial on a murder charge. Such a charge presumably would have to be filed in Kansas, since the FBI says the actual killing took place in that state.

President Issues Order For Action

Government Can Dismiss Employes On Eight Counts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today made it a firing offense for government employes to refuse to testify before congressional committees on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

The President issued an executive order adding this to the existing grounds for dismissal of a federal worker for security reasons.

The order permits action against the individual for:

"Refusal by the individual, upon the ground of constitutional privilege against self-incrimination to testify before a congressional committee regarding charges of his alleged disloyalty or other misconduct."

Close Loopholes

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said this was an effort to "close up all possible loopholes" in the government's security machinery.

He said Atty. Gen. Brownell would enlarge upon the 5th amendment question at a speech this afternoon at the National Press Club.

The timing of the order appeared to stem in part from the current senate investigation of alleged security leaks from the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., army signal corps laboratory.

Backs Stevens

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens has been sitting in on the closed hearings in New York by Sen. McCarthy's (R-Wis) investigations subcommittee. Stevens said Tuesday any civilian employe of the army who refused to answer questions on communism at the hearings would be "summarily suspended."

The President's order had the effect of giving full White House backing to Stevens' stand.

The Eisenhower administration set up last April a security program which the President said was designed to keep "the disloyal and dangerous" out of federal jobs. It replaced previous loyalty-security tests put in during the Truman administration.

Other Reasons

Today's order adds an eighth reason for taking action against a government employe. Seven were set out in April. They were:

1. Any behavior showing the individual is not reliable or trustworthy.

2. Commission of any act of sabotage, espionage, treason or sedition.

3. Establishing or continuing a sympathetic association with spies or saboteurs.

4. Advocacy of use of force or violence to overthrow the government.

5. Membership in, or affiliation with, or sympathetic association with, any group which is totalitarian, Fascist, Communist, or subversive, etc.

6. Intentional, unauthorized disclosure to any person of security information, etc.

7. Performing his duties so as to serve the interests of another government in preference to American interests.

Most of the speech difficulties of young pupils are of an articulatory nature and are improved by special instruction. Officials said many parents in district 271 already know what improvement has been made in their children's speech as a result of speech improvement training.

Mrs. Doane has 78 pupils in the district enrolled in regular speech improvement classes.

Ogle Women Hear Talk on Switzerland

OREGON—Switzerland has the highest standard of living in the world, according to Renee Isler, Freeport, who spoke at the meeting of the Oregon Womans club Monday night in the home of Mrs. Ivan Kuntzleman. Isler, who came to this country in 1927, talked on Switzerland.

He said there are no slums, no poor; everyone has a home, food, clothing, medical care. Life in cities is about the same as city life here. In the rural and mountain areas the life is centered around the family and the church.

There is religious freedom in Switzerland where 57 per cent of population are Protestant and 42 per cent catholic.

Fine Army

Switzerland which is one half the size of Maine has a population of four and one half million people. Nearly seventy per cent of the people talk German, the rest French and Italian.

Isler said there is no finer army than that of Switzerland. The Swiss are proud of their penal system which helps rehabilitate those who have strayed off the straight and narrow path.

The school system is one of the finest. Books are free. Private schools cater to the foreigners such as French, Italians, Germans, English and Americans.

Many Industries

There are many industries in this little country. They include machine tools, watch-making, silk industry, Diesel locomotives, straw for hats, refining of raw products and mineral oil. As Switzerland has few natural resources, no minerals, no oil, no coal and no steel, one of the big sources of revenue is the tourist trade at all times of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Isler had hand work of the Swiss on exhibition. This included dolls, handkerchiefs, and wood carving.

A short business meeting preceded Isler's talk. Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Harry Wade, chairman.

Nov. 9 the Woman's club will meet in the home of Mrs. Frank Adamson with Mrs. G. D. Runkel in a program called "Pacific Northwest Illustrated."

By GEORGE D. PERISHO

OREGON—Dairymen from Ogle county are in Chicago this week. The event is the International Dairy show at the Chicago International Amphitheatre. Allen, dairy husbandry department, University of Wisconsin; William Knox, editor of Hoards Dairyman; Dr. N. L. Lundquist, department of dairy production, Purdue university; Dr. N. P. Fire Prevention Week is over, having been established nationwide as Oct. 4-10. Each of your farm homes and farm buildings should have been checked for fire hazards. If you didn't take the time last week, let's do so now. "The life we save may be our own." Some of the main structural hazards around our farm buildings are:

1. Faulty heating systems and flues. Keep furnaces, stoves, brooders and other heating devices clean and in good repair. Don't install heating equipment or smoke pipes close to combustible walls or ceilings. Inspect and clean chimneys every fall. Place stoves on a metal base.

2. Flammable roofing. Use fire-retardant material, such as asphalt shingles, metal, or asbestos. Sparks can fly long distances to ignite flammable roofing.

3. Unsafe electrical wiring. Be sure circuits are properly fused and of sufficient capacity to carry the load. Hire a competent electrician to do the wiring. Replace frayed cords.

Above all, when we're speaking of safety in connection with Fire Prevention Week, let's put on a campaign of our own. How many of you farmers would like to belong to a "two-fisted club"? I'm sure we could have a record membership, but we will have to put on a safe corn picking campaign on every farm in Ogle county if you expect to remain members. In other words, when I stop by to see you, I'd like to be able to shake your hand, and not have the stub of an arm pointed at me. Corn pickers do a neat job of picking corn but let's use them for that purpose and not for picking hands, arms or even mangling bodies. We need each and every one of you to produce food for America. Practice safety at all times.

A new process developed after three years of research by food technologists at the University of Illinois, is that of dehydration of sweet corn. This will have its greatest use in army rations. It will be useful in case of war, tornado or flood, when thousands of people sometimes have to be fed under disaster conditions. In the process, corn is cut from the cob in a good, fresh stage and is cleaned and blanched in steam for two minutes. It's then air-cooled to room temperature, dipped into a sulfite solution to prevent browning and put into the drier. Drying is done in two stages. Now research is being done on the drying of lima beans. Valuable information is obtained by the research being conducted today. If we expect to cut our surplus food, we must increase research and education.

Steers used in summer management trials at the beef cattle barns will be on display at the 25th annual Cattle Feeders' day program at the University of Illinois Friday, Oct. 23.

A. L. Neumann, head of the beef cattle division at the college of agriculture in Urbana, says that results of last winter's calf-wintering trials and this summer's management studies will be posted. You'll be able to read the results and compare them later with the carcasses that will be on display near the stock pavilion under the supervision of Sleeter Bull, professor of meats at the college.

A. L. Darlow, dean of the college of agriculture at Oklahoma A. & M. college, will be the featured speaker on the afternoon program. He will discuss the question, "Can We Stay in the Cattle Business in the Corn Belt?"

Reports of cattle-feeding experiments at the college will be given by the beef cattle division staff, Neumann says. Discussions will cover improving rations that contain low-grade roughage and urea, high-protein corn for fattening steers, digestibility of rations containing antibiotics, supplements to be fed with legume-grass and corn silages and calf-wintering gains and steer programs for summer.

R. J. Webb, superintendent of Dixon Springs experiment station, will discuss irrigating beef cattle pastures and give results of test work with irrigation on pastures at the station. L. H. Simerl, extension economist at the college of agriculture, will give his views on the outlook for the beef cattle situation.

Writer Surveys Progress Toward a Lasting Peace

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The year 1953 is now 9½ months old. What have those months brought the world in the way of peace? Only one tangible thing: The cease-fire in Korea.

But there is no certainty that even a Korean peace conference can be held —which is typical of the uncertainty about peace in general — so great is the division between East and West.

But the year was not without at least one surprise, hope, shock, and shift in mood.

The surprise: Stalin's death, March 6. The hope: That his successor, Malenkov, might change tactics, seek peace. The shock: Russia's revelation of its progress in making a hydrogen bomb. The shift in mood: A greater sense of urgency in the West in finding peaceful solutions before Hydrogen war began.

Hints Change

Malenkov seemed to hint he might be different from the stubborn Stalin when he said in a speech March 15: "There is no dispute . . . that cannot be settled peacefully . . .". by Mid - October it was hard to see where he differed from Stalin.

In June and September, the Russians suffered humiliating setbacks in both parts of Germany. In June East Germans rioted, showing how they felt toward their Communist masters.

On Sept. 6 West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, pro-West and anti-Russian and great advocate of a reunited Germany, won an overwhelming re-election despite Communist attempts to torpedo him.

If the Russians ever had any notion of letting East Germany slip from their grasp, these two demonstrations of how Germans, East and West, felt toward Moscow probably hardened them into keeping Germany split.

Confer In July

In July the foreign ministers of Britain and France journeyed to Washington to confer with Secretary of State Dulles on problems involving the Communists.

Out of this meeting came a proposal to Moscow: let Germany be re-united, let the Germans have free elections, plus other steps. Notes were exchanged with Moscow, long notes, with long delays between replies. The result by mid-October: nothing.

Tonight Dulles travels to London to meet with the British and French foreign ministers. The State Department said it is not an emergency meeting. London said it was called hurriedly.

The three foreign ministers certainly are meeting now with a greater sense of urgency than they had in July.

On Aug. 19 the Russians announced a hydrogen explosion, confirmed by this government, years before some American experts thought possible.

Danger Spot

And within the past week Trieste became a danger spot when Yugoslavia's Tito threatened to attack any Italian troops permitted to enter the zone of Trieste now occupied by American and British troops. Yugoslavia occupies the other zone.

And Russia, from which Yugoslavia split when Tito refused to knuckle under to Stalin, backed up Tito with warnings against letting the Italians have the port city of Trieste.

Since the Russian explosion Eisenhower and Dulles seem to have moved away from the rigid "show me by deeds" position of president Eisenhower in April. They have talked softer recently.

FBI Seeks $300,000 In Ransom

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The FBI today sought to pry new information from the kidnapers of Bobby Greenlease in hopes of uncovering some clue that might lead to $300,000 of ransom money still missing.

Teams of federal agents, working in shifts, questioned 34-year-old Carl Austin Hall and his 41-year-old woman friend, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, in their 11th floor cells in the skyscraper Jackson County Jail.

Approximately half of the record $600,000 ransom paid by multi-millionaire automobile dealer Robert C. Greenlease has been recovered.

Hall, who admitted killing 6-year-old Bobby and burying his body in a lime-filled grave, first said he thought he lost $300,000 while on a drinking spree in St. Louis. Later he said he believed Mrs. Heady lost the money.

If Mrs. Heady has offered any information on the $300,000, officers have not disclosed it.

Two matrons at the St. Louis city jail, where the couple were held after their arrest, last night described Mrs. Heady as "the most hard-boiled woman prisoner" ever to occupy a cell there.

1,450 Illinois Men Face Draft During December

CHICAGO — (AP) —Approximately 1,450 men will make up the Illinois quota for the December draft call.

State Selective Service Director, Col. Paul G. Armstrong, said Tuesday the December inductions may be restricted to the first two weeks in the month, as in previous years, because of the holidays.

Because of the number of registrants available who are 20 or over and because of men deciding to volunteer for service rather than wait for induction, it appeared 19-year-olds again may not have to be called, he said.

The national draft quota of 23,000 for December was also announced Tuesday.

Mitchell Has Better Chance of Success Than Durkin Had

For his new secretary of labor, President Eisenhower has turned to a man vastly experienced in labor relations, albeit mostly from the management side. And his choice, James P. Mitchell, seems at the outset to have the good will of organized labor.

Mitchell comes to his new job from the Pentagon, where he has been assistant secretary of the army for manpower. During World War II he directed the war department's industrial personnel division. Later he was a personnel adviser to the original Hoover commission. Later he had charge of labor relations and personnel for two New York City department stores.

His government service is a measure of the respect in which Mitchell is evidently held in the labor-relations field. He has served under both Democratic and Republican regimes.

Both during his government duty and his private business service, the new secretary appears also to have won the regard of top union leaders. They say they found him fair and reasonable when he was negotiating for department-store management. Mitchell himself said he felt he got along well with union men.

Not too many of these responded with favorable comments upon his appointment, but Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, did. He credited Mitchell with a "good reputation" in labor circles, and he offered him "every cooperation" in strengthening the Labor Department.

Mitchell's task will not be easy. He inherits the unhappy situation left by the resignation of Martin Durkin, and must try to build anew.

Durkin quit because he said the president broke an agreement with him regarding proposed changes in the Taft-Hartley law. But evidence indicates his real grievances were deeper, and that they grew out of constant rebuffs he suffered on matters of his department budget and suggested appointments. From these, Durkin acquired a sense of isolation and futility in his job.

Whose fault this situation was we shall not go into here. It's enough to say that Mitchell is unlikely to suffer the same handicaps. Thus he should be better placed than Durkin to manage his department not as a narrow, isolated partisan of organized labor, but as a spokesman for all workingmen, dealing with their problems against the broad backdrop of the whole public interest.

In this setting, he may now move to consider possible changes in the controversial Taft-Hartley act, and other issues pressing for action in the labor field.

Tragic Lesson for Schools

It goes without saying that the whole country feels a deep sympathy for the family of kidnaped and murdered Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City.

At the same time, it is stricken with horror at the incredible wickedness of the crime. All decent citizens must hope that the full measure of justice is meted out to the perpetrators of this senseless, callous adventure in human abnormality.

We may express satisfaction that the FBI and the local and state police performed so ably in the case, capitalizing alertly on their tips and moving in fast to apprehend the abductors. Only an ignorant, stupid criminal would ever commit this crime today since a quick examination of the FBI's record of arrests would discourage any shrewd man.

But the police work in the end is little consolation to Bobby's bereaved family. Their six-year-old son is dead. The real lesson his death holds for the nation is this: schools everywhere in the land should know now and hereafter never to release a child to the care or custody of an unknown person until his identity has been established beyond all doubt. Had Bobby's school simply telephoned his home to check, his life would have been saved.

Jacoby on Bridge

This Hand Played With Real Skill

By OSWALD JACOBY

Today's hand was played by Ed Burns, of Minneapolis, one of the great bridge stars of the country. Ed made his slam contract, seeing only his own hand and the dummy. Many fine players who have seen the hand can't work it out even seeing all the cards.

Burns won the first trick in his hand with the ace of clubs, East discarding the deuce of spades. Declarer continued with his three high spades, and West discarded a diamond and a heart.

Now Burns led a low club towards dummy. West had to put up the ten of clubs since otherwise dummy would win with the eight of clubs, and West would eventually be put in the lead with a club in order to lead away from his queen of diamonds.

When West put up the ten of clubs, declarer won in dummy with the king. He cashed his king of spades, discarding the small diamond from his hand. West temporized by discarding a second small heart.

Now South returned to his own hand with the ace of hearts and cashed the king of hearts. West couldn't afford to throw a club, so he had to throw a second low diamond.

Now Burns cashed the ace and king of diamonds and led a low club from his hand toward's dummy's eight. What could West do?

If West played low, dummy would win with the eight of clubs and cash the jack of diamonds. If West stepped up with the jack of clubs, he would then have to lead away from his seven-five of clubs to declarer's nine-six! Either way Burns was sure to make his contract.

You don't often see a fine problem hand dealt out in actual play—and played with such skill and assurance.

Westbrook Pegler

Too often in our appraisal of public men who have just died we do ourselves disservice and the deceased no valid honor by misrepresenting his personality and habits, thus depriving ourselves of the portrait and the departed of his humanity. I refer just now to some cosmetic obituaries and ill-considered stories about the late Fred M. Vinson, chief justice of the United States, whose estate was reported to be only $1,300. From this fact the deduction was drawn that Mr. Vinson had come to the end of a public career of more than 30 years without provision for his loved ones and, in unspoken words, that he had given his all for no more than a hand-to-mouth living.

Westbrook Pegler

Aside from some other considerations, Mr. Vinson, a Kentucky wool-hat and an earthy fellow, had been a horse-player all his life and was a poker-player who would bet them higher than a tom-cat's back when he held the cards or figured that he could make the ribbon-clerks think he held them, though he hadn't even paired.

The late Evander Phocian Howard, a fabulous person who literally practiced blackmail by flattery with a little weekly trade-journal of the turf and the underworld, laid it down flatly many years ago that "All hoss players must die broke." Damon Runyon gave this dictum the widest circulation and it stands to his credit in the score, but it is not a pearl of wisdom or expression worth fighting over. However, it is almost wholly true that all horse-players, such as Fred Vinson, must die broke because, in the words of the late Ed Bradley, the professional gambler and owner of a great stable and a beautiful Blue Grass farm at Lexington, "you can beat a race but not the races."

Phocian Howard bore little resemblance to any other man who ever lived. He had much in common with Mr. Pickwick, but Pickwick never lived. His slang was melodious and poetic in its imagery and when I say he blackmailed by flattery I refer to a droll habit of lathering some wealthy fellow's girl or wife with pretty compliments in his little New York press for a whole season, perhaps, and then putting the bee on the gentleman within earshot of the lady.

One of his stock phrases in this process was "this little lady is sweeter than a peach in June" and, for a fact, often, she was. One sweet lady with a fortune derived from forebears in New York Central, bought about $40,000 of a "bond issue" on the New York Press after Phocian had given her the treatment. When, during the panic, her dividends failed her and she went to Phocian, he exclaimed "Little lady, you put those bonds away and forget about them! They are as good today as the day you bought them!" He used to say when he had lost a bet "It's only money, anyway," and another motto by which he really lived was: "Money gone, something gone; friends gone, much gone; guts gone,—all gone!" He referred to his New York Press as the family journal and fireside companion and Runyon, Bill Corum and I drank his words for several happy years when we were very young.

Evander P. Howard would have treated Fred Vinson with understanding and love. He would have told us that here was a Kentuckian of the true faith who lived by the way as he travelled through life and, like Phocian, had had a full deal when his checks went back into the rack.

Nor is it unseemly that a man of such humanity should have become chief justice. He seemed to recapture for the court, in a manner of speaking, the chew-tobacco character of an earlier Kentuckian, John Harlan, who was said to ride the front end of the horse-car arguing the merits of cases before the court with the driver. Vinson was dignified but without the primness which by many of us, and, as often me as any other, is mistaken for dignity. An austere man can hardly be undignified, but Vinson was dignified and genial, too, although he seems to have been a cracker-barrel lawyer. He was a free-loader who went to the gabbling alcoholic galas and ate many times his weight in pink caviar, anchovies and pates. He drank booze and he would hail a reporter on the street as he rolled along in his car and holler, "Hey, come on, get in!"

A New York doctor who played ball with him at Center college said Vinson might have gone up to the majors, had he not gone into law in Louisa, Ky. His biography in Who's Who says, with a note of juvenile pride that, he won both the "junior" and "senior" law prizes, but the chief justice of the United States had drawn two wills for himself both of which were defective for reasons that any law-clerk would have spotted. He was a government jobholder who finally hit the jack-pot.

It does not follow from the fact that he left a petty estate that Mr. Vinson had kept himself broke playing the horses and poker for table stakes. If he did, he had a full deal, but it is possible that he already had distributed his money among his dependents. And any informed editorialist should know also that a man who had been on the federal payroll almost continuously for 30 years and in the highest bracket at the end had only himself to blame if he had failed to establish comfortable pension rights for his widow. A horse-player of Fred Vinson's life-long devotion would seem certain to have played the hand books and I perish for word from the government clerks who served as runners for the books in the many bureaus where he worked. They could a tale unfold.

The MATURE PARENT
How Moral Perception Licks One's Fear of Self-Assertion

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The day before yesterday I presented a mother whose fear of self-assertion had resulted in the encouragement of a teen-age daughter's carelessness.

This fear is the source of most unhappy conflict between us and children. And the first step toward its conquest, I believe, is a moral perception.

Before we dare to firmly challenge the injustice of a dominating or careless child, we must believe in the righteousness of our action. Otherwise, it will be defensive, uncertain and incomplete.

The moral perception that gives us our strength is the realization that our fear is a destroyer of love.

Our fear of demanding just consideration from Betty has conspired with injustice. It is using our child to separate her from the love she needs from us.

So when she defies our demand that she tidy the bathroom, we rally every last bit of indignation we can muster at the evil of injustice that is manipulating her. We expose its operations to her.

And we put aside all sense of personal relationship to Betty to attack the impersonal evil which has been directing her actions.

If our indignation is directed at the injustice, not at Betty, she will know this at once by the sincerity and dignity of our words.

Nor will we give one moment's consideration to the consequences of our demand for justice.

In World War II, when Britain stood alone against tyranny, its late King had printed on his Christmas card the following words:

"And I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year: Give me a light that I may tread safely into the Unknown! And he replied: Go out into the darkness and put thine hand into the hand of God. That shall be to thee better than light and safer than a known way."

It is in this spirit of quiet and secure faith in the good consequences of our resistance to tyranny, whether it be Hitler's or Betty's, that we overcome our fear of self-assertion.

Let's get acquainted with this idea slowly, for it is the most powerful one. If we take it easy, its light will increase until we see that we must stand for love by adventuring into the darkness, not just for ourselves, but for Betty, too.

We begin to see that only by resistance to the injustice that is using Betty can we teach her how to resist it when it uses us. We begin to understand how love for our child is unfolded out of love for ourselves.

It is then that we are ready to assert ourselves with the power of love's authority.

The Doctor Says:

Be Sure Parrot-Type Pets Are Free From Infection

By EDWIN P. JORDON, M. D.

"My teen-aged son," writes Mrs. M., "has six pairs of parakeets which he has outside in a protected place, but which he wishes to bring into the bedroom in the winter. Is this advisable from a health standpoint?"

Mrs. M. is probably worried about a disease called psittacosis, or parrot fever. If her son's birds are free of the virus causing this disease it would be safe to bring them into the house.

It is a disease caused by a virus which is too small to see under the microscope. A person will not catch the disease from handling a healthy parakeet, but only from one which is infected. The symptoms usually consist of a high fever and conditions similar to pneumonia.

In 1932, 16 cases of psittacosis were reported in the United States and seven people died from the disease, and the next year there were only 15 cases and four deaths. The rapid improvement came from a quarantine which was imposed by the federal government on the shipping of parrots and similar birds between the states.

STILL BATTLE BIRDS

Since that time our public health services have been engaged in a continuous battle to eliminate psittacosis in susceptible birds. Infected birds have been destroyed and the importation of infected birds have been prohibited. Reports of birds smuggled in from Mexico indicate the need for continued caution.

There are laboratory tests which can be used to make the diagnosis definite. Either a serum taken from a victim of the disease who is convalescing or a goat serum which has been produced shortens the course of human psittacosis. Also available are several types of penicillin from which good results have been reported.

College Leaders Seek Funds From Business Sources

CHICAGO — (AP) — Presidents of 24 independent colleges that are members of the Associated Colleges of Illinois are making personal calls this week on business and industrial leaders seeking financial aid.

The presidents are attending night sessions of the organization in Chicago this week.

In the day time, the presidents visit the industrial leaders in teams of two. They contend that independent colleges save industry money because taxes would be higher if the state had to take over all higher education.

Colleges participating in the program are Augustana, George Williams, Aurora, Barat, Lake Forest, Carthage, Eureka, Greenville, Illinois College, Illinois Wesleyan, Millikin, Lake Forest, Lincoln, MacMurray, McKendree, Monmouth, Mundelein, North Park, Quincy, Roosevelt, Shimer, Mount Carroll, Shurtleff and Blackburn.

What's Right?

When you can, it is always better to compliment a person than a thing. Say "How pretty you look in that dress," rather than, "What a pretty dress." Or, "I love the way you've chosen the colors for this room," instead of, "What a pretty room."

Remember it's the personal compliment that really pleases.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

LAS VEGAS — (NEA) — Rita Hayworth was voted Hollywood's No. 1 Miss Nasty in the public relations department by the Hollywood Women's Press Club less than a year ago.

But she was Miss Charm of 1953 with the Press and Las Vegas press agents for her Sands Hotel marriage to Dick Haymes, the most surprisnig production of the year supervised by Publicist Al Freeman and Sands boss Jack, Entratter.

"You have to beat Rita over the head to get her to smile for a news camera," her movie bosses have complained.

But in Las Vegas she smiled prettily, and often, for a battery of 18 photographers during the ceremony.

She responded to Freeman's two-day "Outline of Events—No Restrictions on Any Picture Taking" schedule like an actress emoting for her favorite director and gaily sipped champagne and lunched with the press guys and dolls after the "I do" lines were spoken in the Press Room of the Sands Hotel.

As the wife of Aly Khan, Rita turned down several six-figure checks to tell her life story—the story of dark-haired Rita Cansino, the Tijuana night-club dancer, who became a red-haired film glamour queen and then, for a time a princess.

"That's my private life and I'm not talking about or writing about it," she snapped.

"Keep the press photographers away from me," she's told her Columbia studio bosses for the last eight years.

"Pictures of my children? Definitely NO," she's always said.

GLAMOROUS PUTTY

But in the deft hands of Las Vegas press agent Freeman, Rita was glamorous putty. Awaiting Dick's divorce in a luxurious suite at the Sands Hotel, she permitted news photographs of her two daughters, Rebecca, 8, and Yasmin, 3.

The "No-restrictions-on-any-picture-taking" word to the press, before and after the ceremony, was an eyebrow-lifter from Las Vegas to Hollywood to the Riviera where she once played keep-away with the European press.

The wedding had no "frills," as Rita requested, but the show was a press agents' dream and a bonanza for the makers of film and flashlight bulbs.

Never has any movie queen performed so graciously for the press.

The Sands Hotel, thanks to Rita, racked up more publicity than any of her expensive movies. If there had been time, I'm sure she even would have accepted Abe Schiller's invitation to go fishing on Lake Mead in the Flamingo Hotel's boat, followed by a squadron of press boats as imposing as the Pacific fleet.

Or she might have sat atop an 1890 fire engine at the Last Frontier Village. She was in that kind of a mood.

Why the "new" press-loving Rita?

I asked her that question.

All she would say was, "It's love."

But she has been in love before, Dick is hubby No. 4, but never with the press.

ODDS ARE BETTER ON NO. 4

Maybe just like in the Las Vegas casinos, she figures the odds are better on No. 4 as a hard-way bet. She and Dick reached the altar the hard way, guided by a mob of attorneys who took Dick through his six-week Nevada divorce from Nora Flynn Haymes.

Now they will fight to keep him from being deported from the U.S. on a charge that he re-entered the country illegally after following Rita to Hawaii last May.

The lawyers' fees, I'm sure, will be a staggering amount when Rita and Dick open their mail next month.

But in Hollywood there is another explanation for Rita stepping out of the "Miss Nasty"-with-the-press role.

She has feuded with her Columbia studio bosses many times, and has refused to cooperate with the high-powered studio publicity department, it's said, as one way of striking back in the getting-even department.

Starring as Miss Charm of 1953 for Press Agent Freeman and Hotel Boss Jack Entratter at her marriage to Singer Haymes, it's claimed, was another personal victory for her over Columbia studio.

"It's love," says Rita, about the new Rita.

Maybe Hollywood is wrong. After all, she permitted Hubby No. 2, Orson Welles, to saw her in half in his USO magic show.

Voice of the People

Amboy, Ill.

Dear Editor:

Since state's attorney Bales has warend the people of Amboy and Lee county of operating gambling devices why is it that it still continues in our taverns and pool hall? You can go in any one of the so-called places and play the machines or punch the boards for money.

The pool hall has the boards under the counter and a card game in the rear with more patronage coming from the teenagers than the grownups.

If we have to have so called rackets lets try to keep them out of public places where our teenagers are allowed.

What can you expect of our boys if they grow up looking at these kind of gambling devices.

Your sincerely,

Jean Kerz Bride Of Donald Aldag, East Peoria Man

White faille fashioned the floor length gown worn by Miss Jean Kerz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerz, 216 Artesian Ave., Dixon, for her wedding Saturday afternoon, Oct. 10, to Donald D. Aldag. Donald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Aldag, East Peoria.

Standards of white pom pons and chrysanthemums decorated the First Baptist Church, Dixon, for the two o'clock double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Arthur Vinz. Sprigs of palm tied with white satin bows graced the pews.

Mrs. John H. Hughes, presented a prelude of organ muisc preceding the ceremony. Miss Ruth Huffman, Princeville, sang "I Believe" and "I Love You Truly," and, after the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

Fingertip Veil

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a dress designed with a simple bodice, lace bolero jacket, and fingertip veil held in place by a Juliet cap. Jean carried out the traditional something old in her mother's necklace; new in her veil, borrowed in her earrings, and blue in her garter. Her cascade bouquet was of stephanotis outlined with angel feathers and centered with a white orchid.

Miss Joanne Kerz was her sister's only attendant, gowned in floor-length pastel organdy embossed in white, and wearing a matching Juliet cap. Her crescent bouquet was of white feathered chrysanthemums.

William White, East Peoria, served as best man, and ushering were Fred Reinholdt, also of East Peoria, and Lee Monroe, Washington, Ill.

Black velvet accessories were worn by the bride's mother with her light blue faille suit. Mrs. Aldag was attired in a deeper blue nylon suit, also with black accessories. Both their shoulder corsages were of pink fuji mums.

Reception In Parlors

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors, where a four-tiered all-white cake and yellow and white chrysanthemums graced the bride's table.

Serving the cake and punch were the Misses Barbara Cledon, Pat Kerst, and Judy Jones, Dixon, and Miss Ann Groenwald, Delavan, Ill. Mrs. Nancy Streitberger, Chicago, and Miss Nancy Kerz, sister of the bride, presided at the gift table, and Miss Patricia Kerz, another sister, had charge of the guest book. These girls wore shoulder corsages of yellow and bronze painted daisies.

When the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip, the bride wore a beige orion suit with brown accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. They will reside at 106 North Bourland, Peoria.

A 1950 graduate of Dixon high school, in September the bride received her R.N. from Methodist Hospital, Peoria, where she is now employed. The bridegroom, a graduate of Bradley university and East Peoria Community high school, is now working for his master's degree at Bradley.

City Writer Praises Work Of Pat Risley

An item of interest to the residents of this area appeared in this morning's Chicago Tribune concerning Miss Pat Risley, daughter of Mrs. E. C. Risley, Tursdell road, Dixon. Written by Eleanor Jewett, of the Tribune art staff, the story reads—Pat Risley, a new name among Chicago artists, has one of the most appealing paintings in the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts fall exhibition which opened Sunday in the third floor gallery of the Conrad Hilton hotel, Chicago.

The painting is a water color and its appeal is to the fisherman. Under the ambiguous title, "Still Life," Miss Risley offers us enough nostalgia to set an outdoor man running for his hip boots. A tackle box and a pipe lie on a chair, a red checked lumber shirt is draped over the back of the chair and a cap with flies stuck in its band perches above the tackle box.

Miss Risley who resides in Dixon graduated from the local high school and in 1951 received her degree from the University of Illinois where she was an art major. This was her first time to enter the exhibit.

A number of others from this area are exhibiting in the show. The exhibition which will last about six months is open to the public.

Air Force Urges Ousting Officer

Activities of Family Are Questioned, Board Claims

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—An Air Force Reserve officer whose personal loyalty is unquestioned faces ouster today as a "doubtful security risk."

He is Lt. Milo J. Radulovich, 26-year-old father of two and a meteorology student at the University of Michigan.

A 10th Air Force board of three colonels recommended yesterday that "he be discharged from the Air Force Reserve and that all commissions held by him be terminated." In announcing the decision, however, 10th AF headquarters made a point of repeating that "his loyalty was not questioned."

Activities of his father and a sister were questioned. The father, John Radulovich, 65, a Hudson Motor employe, was accused of having been a subscriber of a "radical" newspaper, and the sister, Mrs. Margaret Fishman of Detroit, with having engaged in "picket line activity."

The Air Force claimed young Radulovich had maintained a "close and continuing" association with his father and sister. Two fellow workers of the father testified they knew him as a loyal American. So did the son.

"The decision came because I told the board I didn't think it was in my province to tell my sister what her politics should be," Radulovich told reporters at Ann Arbor. "This is the same kind of decision you would have expected from the Nazi army."

Ike's Wish For Birthday: World Peace

HERSEY, Pa. — (AP) — President Eisenhower is 63 today, and his birthday message to the world is this: America wants peace—nothing else.

He voiced that sentiment Friday night at a mammoth celebration in this little Pennsylvania town staged by the state's Republicans. It was a lavish affair, attended by some 20,000 persons.

Pennsylvania housewives baked 800 cakes for the occasion, and there was a 25-foot-high cake of wood as a crowning gesture.

Today Eisenhower is back in Washington observing the day with a business-as-usual schedule. Tonight he will leave again—for a seven-day journey to the central and Southern States.

He was greeted last night at the 7,000-seat Hershey Arena by a crowd chanting, "We want Ike."

Accepting as a birthday gift the establishment of an international scholarship foundation, the President said the world's greatest need is understanding among nations. He declared:

"What we need is understanding, and this understanding will come from these young men and women as they go back and forth . . . and others . . . will carry back with them the skills and techniques of another country.

"But that will take understanding, an understanding of America's heart: that she wants peace—nothing else."

Select Eight Jurors for Damage Suit

When court recessed at noon today, eight jurors had been selected to hear the $100,000 damage suit resulting from a four-car accident near Dixon last year.

Those selected were Lulu Rhodes, Dixon; Walter Krug, Dixon; Stella Senger, Franklin Grove; Pauline Keane, Dixon; Mildred Hintz, Dixon; Edna George, Willow Creek; Earl Bolen, Dixon, and Ruth Pierce, Wyoming township.

Rejected for various reasons were Mrs. Robert Warner, Dixon; Martin Lennox, Dixon, and Joe Nauman and Leon Lauer, Amboy.

William C. Knuth, Amboy, administrator of the estate of his daughter, Louise, killed in the crash, brought suit against three minors and the father of a deceased teenager.

He seeks $20,000 damages from each of the defendants, Harold K. Pieper, administrator of the estate of his late son, Donald, 19, Mt. Morris; Robert Lizer, 18, Mt. Morris, now in the armed forces; Jack Schleuter, 17, Dixon, and Donald Noble, 20, Amboy.

Harold Pieper is counter-suing Miss Knuth's father for $20,000.

Canefields Burn In British Guiana Over Red Ouster

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana —(AP)— Smoke from burning canefields hung over Georgetown today, pointing up a threat of economic distress to this troubled British colony.

Fires blazed on at least two nearby sugar plantations after workers walked out in protest against the British ouster of government ministers from the colony's left-wing People's Progressive party (PPP).

The canefields fires were set Tuesday night.

With strikes paralyzing or slowing most of the sugar industry, British Guiana's principal source of income, observers predicted the pinch would come soon.

The British kicked out PPP Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and five other ministers from the party Thursday, charging they were plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state. The PPP retaliated by calling a general strike but so far only the sugar workers have responded.

Relieved

VIENNA, Austria — (AP)— Carol Loncear, Romania's minister for metallurgical production, has been "relieved" of his office, the Bucharest radio said today. Giving no reason, it said he would be assigned to other tasks.

Probation Is Not a Right Bracken Tells Violator

Must Satisfy Court Public Will Not Suffer, Dixon Judge Says

Judge Robert Bracken, Dixon, today said, in effect, that easy probation for law violators will not be condoned by his court. And he warned of jail sentences for anyone on probation who takes the matter lightly.

The judge said too many people have the idea that probation is granted as routine. But in a decision handed down in Carroll county circuit court yesterday, Judge Bracken said, "No one is entitled to be put on probation as a matter of right."

"It must appear to the satisfaction of the court that there is reasonable ground to expect that the applicant (for probation) will be reformed and that society, the public as a whole, will not suffer from anything he might do . . ."

Weekend Sentence

The ruling concerned the case of Frank Armstrong, 20, Mt. Carroll, who was in court charged with probation violation.

Armstrong was placed on probation for three years after he and four other youths pleaded guilty to taking a safe from the VFW hall in Savanna last March."

Sept. 30 he was fined $200 and costs after he pleaded guilty to drunk driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Tuesday Judge Bracken extended Armstrong's probation to five years, and sentenced him to spend week ends and holiday eves in jail until Christmas.

Be Thankful

Armstrong was ordered to report to the Carroll county jail each Saturday noon. He will be released at 7 a.m. Monday mornings. In addition, the judge told the defendant, "On the 25th day of November, which is the day before Thanksgiving you will report to the sheriff at the county jail and remain until 8 o'clock on Thanksgiving morning. Coming out at 8 o'clock you will really have something to be thankful for—that you are not in the penitentiary."

The judge also said, " . . Thursday, December 24 1953, the day before Christmas, . . . you will report to the sheriff . . . at 12 o'clock noon and remain until 8 o'clock Christmas morning when your jail sentence will end. That will be your Christmas present, and one which ought to be remembered as long as you may live."

No Visitors

Armstrong will be allowed no visitors while he is in jail.

Judge Bracken told him, "You will have ample opportunity during your lonely hours of confinement each week, to decide whether or not you desire to be a good member of society or a social outcast. Write your own ticket. I wish well for you."

Amboy Junk Dealer Waives Preliminary

E. C. Buchanan, Amboy junk dealer, was bound over to the January term of the circuit court this morning, when he waievd a preliminary hearing today on a charge of larceny. He appeared before Justice of the Peace Sterling W. Schrock.

Buchanan is accused of stealing farm equipment from the farm of John Friel, Rt. 1, Amboy. Friel signed the complaint Oct. 6.

The defendant has claimed that he was given permission to remove the equipment, valued at about $375, by Friel's father.

Sheriff John Stouffer said that the equipment was relatively new and would not constitute "junk."

Justice Schrock set Buchanan's bond at $2,000.

Stewardess Files $500,000 Suit

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—(AP)— Hotel operator Conrad Hilton and 40 other persons have been named defendants in a $500,000 suit filed by Boni Buehler, attractive airline stewardess who lost an arm and a leg in a motorboat accident on nearby Lake Arrowhead last Aug. 16.

Hilton owned the boat out of which Miss Buehler fell. She was caught by its propellers.

Continuance Granted in Stevens Case

OREGON — (Special) — Miles Stevens and his son, Ralph, operators of a tavern in Grand Detour, were given continuances on their cases when they appeared in Ogle county court Tuesday on liquor charges.

Both face two counts, of selling liquor to minors and to violating tavern closing hours. Complaints were lodged against them as the outgrowth of an auto accident at Grand Detour early Sunday morning.

Three youths involved in the accident claimed they had been sold liquor at Stevens' tavern in violation of the statutes.

No date for their hearing has been set.

Allen Greenfield, Dixon, who was involved in the accident, was fined $10 and costs yesterday when he made an appearance on a disorderly conduct charge.

Richard Jacobs, driver of the accident car, has been fined $100 and given a 10-day jail term. He was charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Two Motorists Arrested, Fined

Clarence Busser, 724 Chicago av., was fined $5 and costs Tuesday when he was found guilty of speeding at Seventh street and Ottawa avenue. His case was heard before Justice of the Peace Boos.

Donald Dimmig, Rt. 2, Dixon, paid a fine of $1 and costs for violating the school stop sign at the intersection of Fifth and Galena avenue this morning.

Police have been keeping a watchful eye on the stop sign location because many motorists have been ignoring it. It operates only when children are coming to and from school.

Stock Raisers Advance Cattle Kill Program

WATERTOWN, S. D. (AP) — A program somewhat akin to the little pig killing program of the 1930s was being advanced by some Great Plains cattlemen today as a means of stabilizing depressed livestock prices.

It calls for government buying upwards of six million head of cows for the purpose of reducing cattle breeding herds, and in turn cutting the number of calves that would be born in the immediate years ahead.

The government would have the cows processed into canned meat and shipped abroad for the needy.

This plan was laid before a hearing of the House Agriculture Committee here Tuesday by the South Dakota Stock Growers Assn., the South Dakota Young Republican Farm Council, and a number of individual farmers. Rep. William S. Hill (R-Colo) expressed doubt it would get committee approval.

The committee is touring the Midwest seeking farmer views on legislation for future farm programs to be considered by Congress next year.

sequently was punished with a 10-day suspension but that he "was later promoted."

The senator said the witness had a roommate who was suspended and finally fired from the army signal corps because of alleged Communist activity.

"The witness gave as his excuse for removing the secret documents that it was common practice for anyone to get possession of them by signing for them," McCarthy said.

Roommate Had Access

The witness denied having passed on any of the documents to other persons, but conceded that his roommate at the time had access to them, McCarthy reported.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said Tuesday 26 of 57 top secret documents missing from the Army Signal Corps laboratory at Ft. Monmouth were found in the Russian-occupied section of Germany.

In Washington, the Army said it had no information on the finding of any such papers in Germany.

Radar is used as part of a defense network to detect the approach of enemy aircraft — in short, a defense mechanism against atom attack.

Number Is "X"

In an interview today Dirksen said "there is indisputable evidence that 'X' number of secret documents" had disappeared from the Army Signal Corps laboratory at Mt. Monmouth, N. J.

Dirksen used the designation "X" apparently to indicate an unknown or undisclosed number.

Dirksen, a member of the Senate investigating subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy said, "We have every reason to believe that the contents of one or more of these documents appeared in the Russian zone of East Germany."

Wilson Says It's Too Early To Guess '54 Defense Cost

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military's first rough guess about what will be needed in way of men, munitions and money for next year appeared today to have encountered a reserved response from the top-level national security council.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and a score of his chief uniformed and civilian advisers went to the council meeting Tuesday with unanimous but preliminary recommendations of the joint chiefs of staff on force levels and probable commitments for the year beginning next July.

President Eisenhower presided at the meeting, which was long.

Talks Cautiously

Back at the Pentagon in the afternoon, Wilson held his weekly news conference. A few weeks ago he had hinted about the possibility of clipping a couple of billion dollars off military spending next fiscal year.

But, fresh back from the council meeting, he talked cautiously about it being "too early" to guess the size of next year's outlay.

A reporter, evidently having in mind the spectre of the Russian atomic menace and what can be done to prevent or fight it off, wanted to know how high continental defenses loomed in the "new look" which the joint chiefs have been giving the military situation.

"Very high; it's up in the top of the tree," Wilson answered cryptically.

Teenagers

that they were also away and returned about 11:30 p.m. Saturday to find the party in full swing.

Not Authorized

Mrs. Jackley, 20, was questioned at the hearing Tuesday and told Tyne that the party wasn't authorized by them.

Police were called to the residence when the party-goers became boisterous and some of them began directing traffic at the busy intersection near the home.

The party was attended by three youths before they became involved in a smashup near Grand Detour about 2 a.m. Sunday. Richard Jacobs, 20, rural route Dixon, was fined $100 and given a 10-day jail term Tuesday in Ogle county court on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Jacobs, Miss Lois Sneed, 21, Dixon, injured in the accident, and Allen Greenfield, 18 or 19, Dixon, were those named as drinking at a Grand Detour tavern after closing hours Sunday. The tavern owner, Miles Stevens, was arrested for selling liquor to minors and for violating the county tavern closing order.

Who Drank It

Those who appeared for the showup in police headquarters here Tuesday were obviously teenagers. Chief Tyne said they were from Dixon, Polo, Oregon and Sterling.

They were taken one by one into a closed room for questioning and Chief Tyne said their answers were strikingly similar. All maintained they had but "one or two" beers and were not aware of who started the party and who brought the beer.

Police, meanwhile, were eyeing the empty 16-gallon keg and wondering who drank the beer.

Jury Selected, Court Recessed In Gilbert Case

OREGON —(Special)— The Gilbert will trial was recessed at 10:30 a.m. today to allow a conference of attorneys and heirs in an attempt to reach a compromise settlement out of court.

Selection of a jury to hear the case was just beginning when the request for a recess was made.

Tuesday, the trial had to be postponed one day because of a lack of jurors. Only 22 members of a 36 member jury panel appeared in the court, and Judge Leon A. Zick dismissed 12 farmers who said they were needed at home for corn harvesting.

The case involves the $250,000 estate of Benjamin Gilbert, Polo. An earlier decision in the case was reversed by the Illinois supreme court and two attempts at hearings have ended in mistrials.

Army Issues Call For 23,000 Men During December

WASHINGTON (AP)—Again in December, the army will call 23,000 men through the draft.

The figure, announced Tuesday, is the same as the call for each of the five preceding months.

The December inductions will bring the total drafted since the start of the Korean War to 1,584,-430.

Court Order Halts Strike At Joppa Plant

JOPPA, Ill. — (AP) — With a Federal Court order breaking up another in a long series of strikes, officials at the Joppa Electric plant today hoped to resume full construction operation by Monday at the 160-million dollar source of power for a nearby atomic energy project.

Local 596 of the AFL Ironworkers removed pickets under the federal order Tuesday after defying an international union order to end the month-long strike.

About 40 strikes have delayed completion of the power plant since work began two and a half years ago.

The huge Joppa plant on the banks of the Ohio River is one of two under construction to supply power to the AEC's new plant near Paducha, Ky.

A spokesman for Bechtel Corp., general contractor, said more than 100 members of other AFL crafts returned to work when the pickets withdrew to a camp some distance from the plant. The pickets said they would "stay put and sweat it out." A hearing for a permanent injunction is set for Friday.

The court order was issued Monday after the contractor complained the NLRB that the local and its business agent, W. B. Sanders, were engaged in illegal picketing.

Bench Warmer Gets Back Honor

Illini's Caroline, Bates Rate Third, Fourth in AP Poll

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jerry Barger, Duke's regular quarterback as a freshman two years ago and a bench-warmer since then, shook the splinters out of his football pants last Saturday and then shook Purdue with a brilliant all-around performance.

The result was that Barger was named today as The Associated Press back of the week. In addition, he appears to have won back the regular starting position from Worth Lutz, whose injury gave Barger his chance to shine against Purdue.

Faloney Second

Barger's performance, which included scoring the winning touchdown with only 39 seconds to play, gave him a slight edge over Maryland's Bernie Faloney and a pair of Illinois stars, J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates in the opinions of the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the Associated Press poll.

Barger, a 174-pound, 5-foot-10 junior from Salisbury, N. C., figured in all three Duke touchdowns. He passed for one, set up another and scored the winner himself after piloting the Blue Devils on a 67-yard drive in the waning minutes of the game. He also intercepted two Purdue passes and knocked down one in the end zone and kicked for a 27-yard average in a 60-minute performance.

Supurb Defense

Faloney, another double-duty quarterback, played only 37 minutes against Georgia. But in that time he completed 7 of 10 passes for 148 yards, including two for touchdowns. He scored twice himself, intercepting one pass. He had two good runs called back for penalties, punted 40 yards dead on the Georgia two and played superlatively on defense.

Caroline and Bates divided the offensive and scoring chores in Illinois' upset of Ohio State. Caroline gained 192 yards and made two touchdowns; Bates picked up 147 yards and four touchdowns.

Rocky in Ring With Bucceroni, Slade as Ref

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dan Bucceroni and Jimmy Slade, both looking for a shot at the heavyweight title, and Rocky Marciano, the guy who holds it, enter the ring at the same time tonight at the St. Louis Arena.

Bucceroni, the Philadelphia butcher boy, and Slade will be the slugging principals in a 10-round match. Marciano will serve as an interested third party in the televised match as referee.

Danny Boy is ranked high among the heavyweights and will be favored. Slade, a clever New York Negro officially listed as a light-heavy, probably will give up as much as 15 pounds in an effort to gain recogniuon among the heavies.

Bucceroni usually scales about 193 pounds.

The 25-year-old Bucceroni has won 43 of 46 bouts — 25 by KOs.

Slade has won 16 bouts, lost seven. He's fought four draws.

The bout is scheduled for national television (CBS) at 9 p.m. (CST).

Alabama Two TD Favorite Over Vols

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — Alabama is a firm two-touchdown favorite over twice-beaten Tennessee here Saturday.

The game, beginning at 2 p.m. (CST), will be televised nationally.

Coach Harold Drew of Alabama says, "We expect our toughest game of the year."

Approximately 40,000 fans are expected to turn out to see whether sophomore Bart Starr can quarterback Alabama to its first Tennessee victory since 1947.

N. Y. Giants Face Japanese Giants

TOKYO — (AP) — The New York Giants arrived by plane today for their 14-game baseball series in Japan and — without even warming up — Manager Lippy Leo Durocher allowed as how he would win all of them.

The Giants open Saturday against the highly-regarded (in Japan, anyway) Tokyo Giants. The game is a sell-out of the 35,000 seats.

Durocher's wife, movie actress Laraine Day, is with him.

'Do My Best,' Says Olson About Fight

Managers Claim Title Hinges on Who Folds Up First

ASBURY PARK, N. J. (AP)—Bobo Olson is no ordinary "Bobo." He doesn't boast how he's going to win 20 games, like Bobo Newsom used to do. He doesn't try to pick a round like Rocky Graziano. In fact, he doesn't act like a "Bobo" at all.

"I'll be doing the best I can," he said calmly Tuesday in his dressing room at Convention Hall, where he is training for his Oct. 21 world middleweight title date with Britain's Randy Turpin at Madison Square Garden.

They say Olson got his nickname because his kid sister tried to say "brother" and it came out "Bobo." At least it makes a likely story.

Sid Flaherty, the manager, is the "Bobo" of this company, if there is one.

One Way

"I think Turpin is a one-way fighter," said Flaherty, meaning he had only one style. "As I see it, this fight hinges on condition and pace. The first to fold up under pressure will lose. This guy (Olson) has never folded up yet."

Flaherty never saw Turpin in the flesh. But he watched carefully the films of his two fights with Sugar Ray Robinson and his last outing against Charles Humez.

Olson said he considered Turpin an "awkward" fighter and figured Robinson was "better in every way."

Orioles Move Up 2 Young Pitchers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The new American League Baltimore Orioles today moved up two young pitchers from their San Antonio farm team, Vachel Perkins and Rhyne Duren, to make three hurlers the club has signed in two days.

Acting General Manager Bill Dewitt announced Tuesday in the club's first deal that Jim Post, 27-year-old southpaw, had been acquired from Toronto of the International League.

Failed to Agree on Contract

Dressen Wanted 3 Year Pact; Bums Offered Only One

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today dropped Charlie Dressen as manager.

Dressen led the Dodgers to National league championships in 1952 and 1953, but lost to the New York Yankees in the World Series both years.

Charley Dressen
DODGERS

The failure of Dressen and the Dodgers to come to terms for 1954 was a complete surprise to baseball observers, who expected Dressen to return at an increase in pay. President Walter O'Malley, in making the announcement said that he and Dressen had been unable to come to terms after a lengthy conference Tuesday.

Not Policy

He said Dressen demanded a three-year contract and that it was not the policy of the Brooklyn club to sign a manager for more than one season. He said that was the only factor in Dressen's resignation.

Dressen said he had no immediate plans. Mrs. Dressen is in a Long Island hospital for observation and treatment, and he said they would leave for their home on the West Coast as soon as she is released.

Dressen, 55, took over the managerial reins at Brooklyn in 1951, after leading the Oakland, Calif., club to a Pacific Coast league flag the previous season. Under his direction, the Dodgers built up a huge 13½-game lead in mid-August of '51, only to lose the pennant to the New York Giants in a post-season playoff.

Dressen and the Dodgers atoned for this failure, however, the next two seasons.

Set 35 Records

Dressen was the first National league manager to win two successive pennants since Billy Southworth accomplished the feat with the 1942-43-44 St. Louis Cardinals.

He directed a power-packed Dodger team that established 35 records in racking up 105 victories the past season, the most ever won by a Brooklyn team. His team clinched the flag Sept. 12, missing the record for the earliest clinching by one day. The 1906 Chicago Cubs clinched the flag Sept. 11.

Irish Might Consider Accepting Bowl Bid

If Invited, Krause Would Recommend It to Board

By TOM BRANIGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—You could have heard a jaw drop at the nearby Notre Dame campus today when the subject of possible Irish participation in a post-season Sugar Bowl game was mentioned.

Only silence, or a sort-of non-commital mumble followed disclosure that the long - standing policy of the university against bowl games could be reversed.

The Associated Press learned reliably Tuesday that, should the Irish be invited to participate in the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans, their athletic director, Ed "Moose" Krause would recommend it. It was understood that informal approaches to Notre Dame already have been made.

Up To Board

Never before has Krause been prepared to make such a recommendation although Irish teams have received as many as seven definite bowl invitations in the past.

The final decision in this event would be up to the school's seven-man athletic board, chairmanned by the Rev. Edmund Joyce, and the Rev. T. M. Hesburgh, Notre Dame president.

Their policy in the past has been staunchly negative. However, no ND athletic director has urged the board and the school president to reverse this stand, as Krause is said to be prepared to do this year.

No Comment

Irish Coach Frank Leahy and the control board for sports at Notre Dame offered no comment on the disclosure. Krause himself said, following publication of the bowl-possibility story:

"There has been no change to the best of my knowledge on Notre Dame's policy with reference to post-season appearances in football games."

Nonetheless, the feeling persisted that the South Bend, Ind., school could be had, especially by the Sugar Bowl, whose officials have enjoyed a long and friendly relationship with the Notre Dame athletic chiefs.

Time Has Come

Notre Dame for years went along with the general athletic procedures of the Big Ten. When the powerful Western Conference reversed its anti-bowl attitude with a post-World War II Rose Bowl contract with the Pacific Coast Conference, Notre Dame continued its thumbs-down policy.

Now friends of the university feel the time has come to bid for the glory — and dollar — rewarding benefit incident to bowl appearances.

Illinois Tops All Colleges In Rushing

Eliot's Gridders Move Up From 10th After Beating OSU

NEW YORK (AP)—Statistically speaking, there's a tremendous difference between 1953 college football and the 1952 brand. And, whether the sudden switch from two to one-platoon play is responsible or whether there are other reasons, competition is a lot closer.

Every phase of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau's weekly team offense statistics show the same trend. The leaders have lower yardage totals, the spread between first place and 15th in the tables is less and the standings are subject to sudden shifts.

Up From 10th

Of the top four in the weekly rankings—Notre Dame, Michigan State, Maryland and UCLA—only the latter two appear among the statistical leaders. Maryland is sixth in total offense and sixth in rushing offense and UCLA is tenth in rushing offense.

Illinois skyrocketed from tenth place to first in rushing offense as it ran for 432 yards in its upset victory over Ohio State. The Illini have averaged 328 yards per game on the ground to 301.7 for second-place West Virginia.

NU Tops Offense

Northwestern, despite a walloping by Minnesota, retained its place as total offense leader with an average of 408.4 yards per game.

Fordham holds the lead in passing offense, averaging 185.5 yards per game by air.

The top ten major college scoring teams: West Virginia, 34.7 points per game; Maryland, 33.0; Notre Dame, 32.5; Utah, 32.3; Illinois, 31.7; Michigan, 30.0; Cincinnati, 29.8; Ohio State, 29.7; Army, 29.3 and Navy and Holy Cross, 29.0 each.

FIGHT RESULTS

MIAMI BEACH Fla.—Chico Vejar, 146, Stamford, Conn., outpointed Chico Pacheco 134¼, Miami, 10

LOS ANGELES—Santiago Esteban, 138½, Walsenburg Colo., outpointed Mario Trigo, 139, Los Angeles, 10.

Reserve Clause Gets Court Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The baseball case went into another inning before the Supreme court today with the future of the reserve clause hanging in the balance.

For more than an hour late Tuesday the nine justices listened to arguments whether organized baseball is a business within the meaning of the nation's antitrust laws.

Attorneys for minor leaguers George Toolson and Walter Kowalski maintained that baseball is a money-making business that crosses state lines. They asked, too, that the controversial reserve clause giving clubs control of players' service be held illegal.

Use Precedent

Baseball's attorneys were inclined to rely heavily on the single precedent in the case, the Supreme Court decision of 1922, written by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, that baseball is a sport, not a commercial enterprise.

Justice Stanley Reed seemed particularly concerned with the monopoly aspects of the case.

Reed asked each of the attorneys whether he thought that baseball exercises reasonable restraints on trade, with an emphasis on the word "reasonable."

The Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws permit reasonable restraint on trade.

Reserve Clause

Norman S. Sterry, who represented the New York Yankees, said the reserve clause is an integral part of baseball structure and that if the game is to be permitted to exist, it must have its own organizational rules.

If the reserve clause is wiped out, he said, "a few wealthy teams could get all the players."

Practice Makes...

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo. —(AP)— A bobcat added realism to the target shooting of John H. Kyriss, 18, who lives on a farm near this mountain village 35 miles west of Denver.

The bobcat appeared as Kyriss was trying out his 12-gauge shotgun in preparation for bird season. When the animal sprang at him, Kyriss hit it in the chest with one shot and the wounded cat took off. Kyriss trailed and finished it off, he said, "but it took seven shots."

SPORTS? WHAT'S TH' SCORE

by Norm Follow

WE CAME ACROSS THE BOOK REVIEW (printed below) among the Associated Press releases for today and thought it would make interesting column material.

We checked with the Dixon Public Library and learned that the book has not been ordered yet, but if there are requests for it, the library will buy the book.

IT IS HARD TO JUDGE A BOOK by its cover, but from the sound of this review, this football expose by Richard I. Miller, should be a dandy.

Here is the review:

NEW YORK—(AP)—THE MAN WHO sets out to shock the American public about the evils of college football is at a terrible disadvantage, because there isn't a whole lot he can say that isn't already pretty well known.

However, anyone who would like to have the entire situation laid before him in one lump is invited to obtain a copy of RICHARD I. MILLER'S "THE TRUTH ABOUT BIG-TIME FOOTBALL," which becomes available today. The author, a member of the Illinois athletic staff, has gone to a great deal of trouble and will not be popular in some quarters.

* * * *

BECAUSE THE BOOK TAKES IN SO MUCH territory it is a bit difficult to decide where to let Mr. Miller start swinging. However, there should be widespread interest in his choice of the 18 schools which (in his opinion, mind you) are most open to censure, namely:

Alabama, Baylor, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan State, Mississippi, Notre Dame, Oklahoma, Princeton, Stanford, Tennessee, Texas, Texas Christian, U. C. L. A., U. S. C. and Wisconsin.

* * * *

"WITH OCCASIONAL EXCEPTIONS," the author states, "they are dedicated to the single objective—winning. To achieve this, they recognize that they must pick the right horses, and so they join the mad rush to buy the best players; secure the best coaches, build the best stadiums, while the real values of intercollegiate sport are tossed into the ash can. The year 1951 found the ethical conduct of big-time football at its lowest ebb since 1904."

To back up his assertions, Miller goes into detail on the number of athletic scholarships offered annually by most of these schools, as well as others, and in some cases tells the embryo grid star what other financial inducements he may expect to receive.

AS A SOLUTION OF THE BOWL GAMES' problem, Miller suggests that all such games be played in mid-December and that each participating team be satisfied with $10,000 take-home pay plus expenses. Any school which would not agree to this arrangement, he contends, would be admitting indirectly that its interest in bowl contests is financial. The idea is offered free to the various bowl committees.

Johnny Lindell Tops Major League Hurlers at Plate

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Lindell, the big guy who came back to the major leagues as a pitcher, could return to his second love—outfielding—if his batting performance during the 1953 season was any indication.

The 37 - year - old Philadelphia Phillies knuckleballer led all big league pitchers in batting with a .321 average. He cracked out 35 hits in 109 trips, including seven doubles, one triple and four home runs. Johnny, often used as a pinch hitter, also drove in 19 runs, figures compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Lindell came up to the New York Yankees as a pitcher in 1942. He then switched to the outfield for eight creditable seasons.

With Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League in 1952, Johnny again turned to pitching, winning 24 games. He was purchased by the Pittsburgh Pirates last fall, only to be waived to the Philadelphia Phillies Aug. 31. He finished with a 6-17 record.

Yanks Sign Two Negroes; First in Team's History

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees, for the first time in their 51-year-old major league history, have negroes on their roster today.

The Yankees became the 11th big league club to acquire a Negro player Tuesday when they announced the purchase of Vic Power and Elston Howard from their Kansas City farm club of the American Assn. The pair, together with six other hopefuls from Kansas City and Birmingham, will join the parent club at the spring training camp in St. Petersburg, Fla., next February.

Ready Since 52

A great deal of attention will be placed on the pair, especially Power, who was regarded in some quarters as ready for the big leagues as far back as 1952. Power, 23, is a strong right-handed hitter who led the American Assn. in batting this season. Besides hitting .319, the infielder-outfielder paced the circuit with 217 hits and 324 total bases.

Howard, 22, although not as robust a batter as power, is regarded by several Yankee scouts as the better player. He is an outfielder, is fast, has a fine arm and is a ballhawk. He batted .289 in 139 games.

Yanks On Spot

Power's outstanding work in the minors put the Yankees very much on the spot early last spring. They never had a Negro player on their roster and rumors spread that they never intended to have one. Despite the pressure to bring up Power, Yankee General Manager George Weiss stoutly maintained the young Negro was not ready.

Power and Howard boost the Negro delegation in the majors to 31. The Chicago Cubs, Philadelphia Athletics, Cincinnati Redlegs and Pittsburgh Pirates also have joined the Dodgers, Giants, Braves, Indians, White Sox and Browns in signing Negroes to their rosters.

Only the Red Sox, Tigers, Senators, Phillies and Cardinals are without Negroes although the Tigers, Senators and Cardinals have Negroes in their farm system.

Democrat in Surprising Win in Wisconsin Vote

Eisenhower Backer Is Beaten; Says It Shows Dissatisfaction

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — Rural west-central Wisconsin elected a Democrat to Congress Tuesday for the first time in its history.

And the Republican who lost said the results "showed clearly that the farmer and laboring man does not like the present administration's farm policies."

Thus ended one of the most unusual elections in Wisconsin's unpredictable political history.

The man who won the special election for Ninth District representative to succeed the late Merlin F. Hull, a Republican and former Progressive, is Lester R. Johnson, 52, a small town district attorney from Black River Falls and also a former Progressive.

Loser a Veteran

The loser was State Sen. Arthur L. Padrutt, 36, who has spent 11 years in the Wisconsin Legislature and like Hull and Johnson also a former Progressive.

Johnson keyed his campaign to a promise to vote the same way as Hull had voted. He also denounced the administration's farm policy.

Padrutt never discussed his background as a Progressive nor did he mention Hull while he stumped the district, but stressed that he was "four square" behind President Eisenhower and his administration.

It had been anticipated that the vote would be very light and the Republicans predicted not more than 30,000 votes would be cast. In contrast the election drew nearly 50,000 voters, which however, is less than one-third of the estimated 150,000 eligible electors in the district.

7,000 Lead

Unofficial returns in 399 of 401 precincts in 11 counties that make up the district gave: Johnson 27,790; Padrutt 21,097.

It was the first of five special congressional elections held since last November in which the voters reversed their choice of party.

As a result the House of Representatives now has 218 Republicans, 214 Democrats, one independent and three vacancies.

President Eisenhower won in the Wisconsin district by 84,079 to 46,140 for Adlai Stevenson and carried every county last year.

Although some Democratic leaders referred to the election as an indirect slap at Joseph R. McCarthy, Wisconsin's controversial junior senator, he took no part in it and neither candidate made major issue of McCarthy in their campaign.

Shows "Dissatisfaction"

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), who campaigned for Johnson, said the result showed "a general dissatisfaction with the farm, power and money policies of the administration."

While some Republicans were inclined to regard the Wisconsin result as only a snowflake which might not yet be the forerunner of wintry weather for the administration, other GOP members viewed the outcome as serious.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa), chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee whose job it is to try to elect enough Republicans to retain control of the House next year, said the result was not indicative of what will happen then.

Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) termed the result "an amazing and unexpected reversal of public political opinion." He said it indicates the GOP has a lot of work to do before the 1954 congressional elections.

CARP'S RELATIVE

Goldfish, closely related to the carp, is a native of China, where it was cultivated centuries ago. It was said to have been brought into Europe for Madame de Pompadour. During their centuries of cultivation, the Japanese originated many unusual types.

Pilot Unhurt As Jet Lands Near Church

CHICAGO (AP)—The pilot of an air force jet which crash-landed in a corn field and slid into a church yard Tuesday, was injured only slightly.

He is 2nd Lt. Orville A. Kassenberger of Red Bud, Ill. Kassenberger was returning to O'Hare Field from a routine training mission in an F86B Sabre jet when something went wrong.

The plane made a belly landing in a corn field north of the airport and slid into the yard of the Orchard Place Baptist church.

Kassenberger suffered only bruises and scratches.

Siamese Twins, Normal After Surgery, Home

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Mouton Siamese twins—now normal, happy baby girls after their historic separation — will leave the hospital for their home in Lafayette today.

Catherine Ann and Carolyn Anne, daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton of LaFayette, are leaving here much sooner than physicians expected.

"But they have improved so rapidly, so much better than expected," explained Dr. L. L. Weissmiller, director of Ochsner Foundation Hospital. "They are completely out of danger now."

Dr. Weissmiller said the girls were completely normal and happy in every respect.

DEAD LOSS

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Even the deceased will have to pay Pennsylvania's new sales tax when it takes effect Sept. 1.

It provides that 50 per cent of the lump sum charged by funeral director is subject to the one per cent levy.

If a vault is provided for the burial, that's a separate item — and its entire cost is subject to the levy.

Rush for Special License Numbers on in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A legal sort of numbers game that hits its peak each autumn in Springfield is in full swing again.

Its sanction in law is Section 8 of the Illinois Motor Vehicle Act, which gives autoists the privilege of having present license plate numerals reassigned.

About 250,000 take advantage of the privilege annually, or ask for tags bearing a specific combination of numerals with special significance for the applicant.

This year requests will be honored until Nov. 1. The old deadline of Dec. 1 was moved up a month by the 1953 legislature.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier said the usual bids are coming in from former servicemen who want license plate numerals corresponding with the ones they had on service dogtags.

And some applicants are asking for street addresses, poker combinations, telephone numbers, repeating sequences, plates ending in zeros, lodge numbers or "lucky" numbers.

Carpentier says processing the requests is a "terrific" headache. He figures the extra expense involved at between a quarter and a half million dollars.

Early this year, he asked the legislature for authority to levy a special charge of $2 to meet the added cost. The legislature turned him down.

Applications for special license plates are not being acknowledged, Carpentier said.

Applicants will learn how they made out shortly after Dec. 1 when mailing of 1954 license plates begins.

Until 1940, Chilkoot barracks was the only U. S. army post in Alaska.

Sure Way to Get A Husband, Girls

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Catherine Hunter, head of the University of Tulsa's homemaking department, says being handy with a skillet is still the best way to trap a man, and she has figures to prove it.

Out of 105 who have majored in home economics at the school in the last five years, 103 are married, one is engaged, and the other is teaching home economics, she says.

Engineers say that a temperature difference of only one degree betwen the walls of your home and the warmer air in the room will cause dirt and dust to settle on the walls.

Bobo Reportedly Settles Divorce for $5½ Millions

CHICAGO — (AP) —A divorce settlement, with more than 5½ million dollars involved, reportedly has been agreed upon between Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller and her estranged husband, Winthrop Rockefeller.

A Chicago attorney in close touch with the case Tuesday night reported the settlement, which is said to be the largest on record. There was no comment from Rockefeller.

The Chicago attorney, who asked that his name not be used, said Barbara, 36-year-old daughter of a Pennsylvania coal miner, is to receive two million dollars in cash or securities plus a one million dollar trust fund guaranteeing her an income of $20,000 a year for life.

The attorney said she also is to receive $70,000 a year in alimony from Rockefeller, payable until her remarriage or until Rockefeller's death.

In addition, two trust funds totaling 2½ million dollars are to be set up for their son, Winthrop Paul, 5. The son is to remain in the mother's custody but the father will have visiting rights. Rockefeller also has agreed to pay all attorneys fees and costs in connection with the divorce.

In New York, Mrs. Rockefeller said only that, "Nothing has been signed."
